Album Covers

Due to our extensive album selection, we occasionally run out of a specific style/size combination. We recommend you contact us for availability. See our selection on our StoryBook Album handout.

Some of our album covers display photos. The cover photos must be accurate in size and cropping. To achieve this, we ask that you order your cover photo through our Roes online ordering. Simply download the free software at www.jonesphoto.com. Click on "Roes-Get started now" then click on catalog "Leather and spiral bound albums." Next click on "Photos for album covers." Choose your cover style and drop in your photo and add to order. You will be able to adjust the cropping of the photo and order the cover print for you album.

Paper and protective coating options

Pages are printed on Fuji Crystal Archive paper in Lustre finish.

A protective finish can be added for $1.50 per panoramic page. However it reduces the metallic look of the Pearl by approximately 50%. Ask to see our paper samples.

Album layout

Album pages must be designed in a panoramic layout for this service. The page is folded, creating a centerfold line, which must be taken into account when designing your pages. For instance, you will not want to have the fold line running through people's faces. Save the pages as jpgs at 300 dpi.

During the album binding process, all pages must be cut down.

When designing your pages please set your safety guides at a minimum of .25" around all sides of your photos for the album binding. If you want the photos to bleed off the edge, make sure you go well beyond the .25" line. If you want the prints to stay on the page, make sure they are well inside the .25" line.

Our Roes online ordering will help you verify the cut line on your layouts. You can also use Roes to send in your pre-made pages. Simply open up our Roes software and click on catalog "Leather and spiral bound albums." Click on "Pre-made album pages." Drop your pages into the correct album size and select no crop (under "rotate image" the 3rd icon from the right) and then add to order.

Communication about your files

To eliminate any confusion, please submit one StoryBook Order Form per album.

Our technicians will contact you if we have concerns on the album cut lines, file resolution, and obvious color and density problems. It is our goal to have your album satisfy you and your client. However, Jones Photo is not responsible for anything beyond the above concerns.

Numbering album pages

Our album technicians must know the correct sequence when binding your pages into your album. Please number your files as shown; add a 0 to single-digit numbers. Example: Page 01-09 and page 10-50. Some clients prefer to view the pages and hand number them on the back of the prints prior to the album binding process. If you choose this option, just let us know and we will set up an appointment.

Attention: DG Foto Art Krafter Users

Due to your files being encrypted you will not be able to view the pages outside of the Krafter software. A $5.00 file conversion fee will apply to your order. When our technician receives your files, they will verify the page cropping and notify you with any concerns. Be sure to send us the pxl files, not the paj files. You can send us a CD or upload your files through our Roes online ordering by following these steps. Click on "catalog" and then "file uploading." Type in "Krafter pages" in the special instructions along with the print size for your pages.
